09/692957

ABSTRACT

A method and apparatus for providing extended disk sector formatting to assist in backup and hierarchical storage management is disclosed. A part of the extended sector format is used to include a field for indicating whether data was 5   written since the last backup. This backup field may be a single bit or could be larger to indicate age since last backup.